Division No. 1 of the Ancient Order Division No. 1 of the Ancient Order of Hibornians met Thursday night. The members evidently felt giad of the success of the Boera and expressed their feeling in the following resolutions, which were styled "resolutions of sympathy with Great Britain:"

"Whereas, We have learned with sadness, beyond the powar of words to express, of the great tribulation of the British empire in South Africa, and the worful plight of our old friend, John Bull; and,

"Resolved, That we tender to the noble British nation and to all their sympathizers the expression of our wonder to see their noble motives cast in their teeth, their armies smashed, their generals overreached, confusion and disorder everywhere. Tommy Atkins and the Black Watch doing time at Pretoria, and all the world tickied to death; and, be it further

"Resolved, That, in the event of General Joubert bringing Buller and Methuen to Pretoria. St. George and the Irragon be immediately let dose, because if they remain hitched any longer Lord Roberts and Kitchener will go to the race track for certain, and then the sky will fall, and there won't be a mule last; will fall, and there won't be a mule last; will fall, and there and then the sky will fall, and there and then the sky will fall, and there and, be it further "Resolved. That a day of prayer and supplication be immediately appointed and all the noble Britons and Anglomaniacs in general meet in sackcloth and ashes and union Jacks—at a safe distance from Cronje and his crack shots—and petition Providence to save the great civilizing nation and hurl His thunders against Oom Paul and his wicked design of building a new race track, the present one being chock full of generals and colonels and cheaper of generals and colonels and cheaper Britons, who never will be slaves, don't you know; "Resolved, That the Prince of Wales immediately invite Uncle Sam and his perfection, wife and family to dimer, kiss them all, prove conclusively that blood is thicker than fire or water or anything, invite the old man to a game of poker with the emperor of Germany, offer to make his wife a duchess, finally unfur! the royal standard and ask him to step in St. Louis.

Board of Aldermen.

Denver's are the first aldermen in this country to express sympathy for the Boers. This resolution, introduced by Andrew Kelly, was passed by nine votes to five at last night's meeting. (Cherry, Tebberts, Bailey, Lathan and Presindent Golder dissenting.

"Whereas. The independent republics of the Transvaal are engaged in a struggle for national freedom, and in defense of their homes, lives and property from the assaults of a monarchical government; therefore.

"Besolved, By the city council of the city of Denver, that the sympathy of the city council of the city of Denver, that the sympathy of the city council of the city of Denver, that the sympathy of the city council of the city of Denver is hereby given to the citizens of the Transvaal republics in their efforts to withstand oppression, greed and unjuctifiable tyranny, and we hereby express our sincerest hopes for the success of the Boer arms."

timt the Kruger whicker is the badge Barbers around Denver report that they are beginning to get calls for the Com Paul beard, but they have not yet fully decided just what the specifications of the cut must be. The Boer sympathizers' society is not particular on this point. Its chief aim is to get into its ranks men who have a warm heart for the Afrikanders who are fighting for independence and are are fighting for independence, and are willing to lead their aid to any project for their relief that the majority may suggest. Governor Thomas is a promounced pre-Boer, but his executive capacity will probably prevent him from

The idea of organizing in the interests of the Boers originated with T. E. Saillivan of 8527 Sinart street. The latter has been in South Africa and had a chance to observe the situation in that country. He also has strong Irish sym-pathies, and these are enough to place him against the Boers. A meeting was held last night, at which Mr. Sullivan

ST. MARY'S

(Denver News.)

A very elaboric drama, a tragedy of the time of Nero, was presented by the pupils and graduates of St. Mary's academy last night, and a very good musicale. The play was acted out quite well, and the Sisters must have spent much time in bringing their pupils to this stage of perfection.

The musicale was far superior to the drama, and is a flattering reflection of the standard of the school. An orchestra, composed of girls from 8 to 16, played several quite difficult compositions with a harmonious finish that one seldom sees in an amateur organiza-

seldom sees in an amateur organiza-tion. Miss Mae Bonfils delighted the audience with an overture composed by herself, and little Alice O'Neil, a little black-eyed lassie of 8 or 9 summers, played the violin and plano with all the confidence of one many years her senior. The intermezzo from "Caval-leria Rusticana" was the best thing of the evening, and showed surprising tone
